Girl Power in Play: A Global Symposium

Taking place against the backdrop of FIFA Women's World Cup Canada 2015, this invitation-only gathering of key leaders will focus on the power of girls' involvement in sport.

WHEN & WHERE

18-19 June 2015 | Shaw Convention Center in Ottawa, Canada

WHAT

Sport can have a transformative impact on the health, rights, and wellbeing of girls. Together, we will tackle a critical question: How can we accelerate the movement for girls' empowerment through sport? We will address this topic through a wide lens, discussing the connection between sport participation and gender empowerment, improved health, changing social norms, and better nutrition.

WHO

We are convening diverse voices across sectors—policy and decision makers, sport stars, high-level Canadian government officials, private sector representatives, international NGOs and grassroots organizations, activists, researchers, young people, and media.

WHY

By bringing together key stakeholders, this symposium will forge partnerships, share solutions, and spark economic investment and political commitment to girls in sport. When girls play, everybody wins.
